FRAUD PLOT CHARGED BY SON

Mrs. Natalie Kleeman Is Sued by Offspring
for Property

Complaint Alleges That Mother Conspired to Defraud Family

Charges that his mother had conspired to defraud him and his four brothers and sisters out of their share of an estate valued at $150,000 are contained in a suit filed in the Superior Court today by Dr. George Kleeman, prominent Oakland physician, against Mrs. Natalie Kleeman. Judge Harris this morning issued a temporary injunction restraining Mrs. Kleeman from disposing of valuable San Francisco property. She was cited to appear in court Friday morning of next week.

Two wills figure in the action filed this morning. This action is but the prelude to further litigation, in which Dr. Kleeman will seek to have one will of his late father, William Kleeman, set aside, and another one, which gives half of his estate to his five children, substituted. This suit will be filed after the present proceedings have been disposed of.

VALUABLE PROPERTY.
Business property at the corner of California and Kearney streets, which is valued at $150,000, is the cause of contention. William Kleeman died on April 12, 1899. Shortly after his death, according to Dr. Kleeman, his widow and the five children read a will dated 1893, in which one half of his entire estate was left to his widow and the other half to be divided equally between the five children.

This division was not to have occurred until the youngest child, Stella, reached the age of thirty years. The children, believing that this will had been admitted to probate at their mother's request, made no inquiry in the matter. Dr. Kleeman avers, until a month ago, when the youngest daughter, now Stella Jarvis, reached the age of 30. It was then learned, he charges, that his mother had filed an earlier will, dated February 15, 1897, which left all of the estate to the widow, and specifically declared that the children were to receive nothing through its provisions, but were to be cared for by their mother.

SECOND WILL PROBATED.
Dr. Kleeman says that he has learned that this will was admitted to probate as the legal will of his father, and that his mother destroyed the other document, which, under the law is the legal one, some time in 1910.

He further alleges that his mother has mortgaged the San Francisco property for $10,000, and that she now intends to sell it for $70,000, despite the fact that it is worth at least $150,000. The property produces an income of more than $500 a month, according to Will P. Frick, who is attorney for Dr. Kleeman.

WALTER P. FRICK GRANTED DIVORCE

Walter P. Frick, society man and wealthy lumber dealer, was granted an involuntary decree of divorce from George S. Frick on grounds of desertion by Judge N. D. Arnot this morning after he had testified that his wife had left him while he was out of the city on a business trip and had since refused to return to him.

Frick testified that six months after his marriage, he left the city on a business trip. He returned, he said, on April 25 of last year, to find that his wife had left their home at 220 Ellingdale avenue, Piedmont, after having taken one half of their personal property. He said that she had been scrupulously fair in dividing their wedding presents, taking for herself only those which had been given them by her personal friends and relatives.

ROME, Oct. 28, via London, 2:25 p. m.—A Bucharest dispatch to the Stefani News Agency, filed yesterday, says that the Russians have begun an attack on the Black Sea coast of Bulgaria. Russian fleet arrived at 4 o'clock this morning off the Bulgarian coast, "and immediately began a bombardment of Varna. Shelling was still proceeding at 11 o'clock. Considerable damage has been done to the town."

TEUTONS PRESSING SOUTH IN INVASION

BERLIN, Oct. 28, by wireless to Sarville, N. Y.—The Austro-German invasion of Serbia has been pushed further to the south. Army headquarters announced today that further ground had been gained and that the army of General Gallwitz had taken 2033 prisoners since October 23.

The Bulgarians have captured Zajecar and Knjaevatz, having crossed the Timok over a large front. Rumenavatz, about 15 miles northwest of Pirot (east of Nish) has also been occupied by the Bulgarians, who have captured several guns.

General von Gallwitz's army has taken a number of machine guns of the Serbians.

Zajecar and Knjaevatz are on the railroad between Negotin to Nish, against which the Bulgarians are now marching. Knjaevatz is about 30 miles from Nish.

JURIST AID SHORT RIDGE CRUSADE

Charles M. Shortridge, crusader for civic righteousness and lieutenant of Mayor John L. Davis in his recent municipal campaign against gambling in Oakland, was assisted by Judge Mortimer Smith in his attack upon gamblers today, but received the assistance somewhat in ill grace. "Brother Charles," as Attorney Shortridge is usually spoken of by Sam Shortridge, objected because the gambler who was suppressed was his client.

REPRESENTED BY SHORTIDGE.
Some weeks ago the police arrested Orrin D. Ashley for a charge of "gambling," alleging that he frequented gambling resorts and had no honest means of livelihood. Ashley was represented by "Charlie" Shortridge.

Shortridge asked for another continuance today, saying that he had not been able to see Commissioner Jackson, on account of the illness of the commissioner. The court denied the request, and the case went to trial.

Alamedans Ready to Face Perils on Trip

ALAMEDA, Oct. 28.—Although winter is approaching with its wind and rain storms, two Alameda young women, Miss Cora Beardsley and Miss Ethelyndal McMullin, are to leave next week in their automobile for a tour of the world. How long the trip will take they do not know, but they will forge ahead and expect to gird the globe before returning to Alameda.

The world tour is to be started early next week. The young women are to travel in a car purchased with money made by them in selling refreshments at country resorts this summer. Not only did they obtain sufficient funds to buy the machine, but also a moving picture camera. With these two properties they now anticipate they can journey through all countries on the face of the globe.

Miss Beardsley is to be the chauffeur and mechanic. Miss McMullin will be the photographer and will take moving pictures en route. Educational pictures will be taken by the young women, especially epoch-making scenes. These will be developed as rapidly as possible and shown by the intrepid tourists at various points on their journey. In this way they hope to raise sufficient funds to carry them along their route.

Miss Beardsley and Miss McMullin snapped "movies" of local schools and scholars as their first venture and they are now being shown in the local schools.

FATE OF TWO AMENDMENTS IS IN DOUBT

What happened to amendments making provision for a rural credits system and making a two-thirds majority necessary on bond issues initiated by the electorate may not be known until the final vote is tabulated by the secretary of state. Scanty returns received today, with a few additional precincts from various corners of the state, were not sufficient to indicate whether they would finally overcome the few thousand majority vote against them. There was no reason to believe, however, that the amendment providing that judges appointed to fill vacancies should hold office until their successors took office would not hold the slight lead it finally obtained. None of the other measures voted upon at Tuesday's election showed any signs of winning.

HOW COUNTY VOTED.
Two propositions, No. 4, stipulating that supreme, appellate and superior court judges should retain office until their successors had qualified, and No. 7, requiring a two-thirds majority vote to pass initiative measures—were given slight majorities by Alameda county voters. All nine of the other propositions were defeated, as shown by the complete returns from 25 out of the 253 precincts in the county. Division is the only precinct now missing.

President Wilson to Receive Suffragists

LITTLE ONES CRUSHED TO DEATH IN STAMPEDE FOLLOWING EXPLOSION

By Associated Press.
PEABODY, Mass., Oct. 28.—Twenty pupils of St. John's Parochial School lost their lives in a fire that, starting in the basement a few minutes after the morning session had opened today, swept through the three stories of the brick and wooden school building in less than five minutes.

Eight hundred boys and girls, who a few minutes before had assembled for their lessons, fled for their lives in wild disorder.

An hour later twelve bodies had been recovered from the vestibule where the jam of terrified little ones had resulted in the greatest loss of life. At 11 o'clock twenty bodies had been recovered. The police had estimated the dead as high as fifty. Many others were injured in their flight down the stairways and several youngsters jumped from the windows of the third floor. The students, who ranged in years from seven to thirteen, were in charge of sixteen sisters. When the fire broke out the sisters marshaled their charges as for a fire drill and started them from the building. The pupils were orderly until those from the third floor joined others pouring from the classrooms on the second floor.

Suddenly there was a cry of fear from one of the throngs. It was taken up by a hundred others and panic ensued. The sisters made frantic efforts to stop the pushing, struggling mass, but to no purpose. The smaller children fell under the feet of those behind them and against the vestibule was so jammed with living and dead that the firemen could not force an entrance. The sixteen sisters escaped.

CRUSHED ATTEMPTING ESCAPE.
Nineteen of the boys and girls, none of whom was out of their teens, were burned or crushed to death while attempting to escape. A score of others were injured, some dangerously. Of the latter one died after having been removed to a hospital.

The bodies of the dead were frightfully burned, and of the nineteen at the morgue only two had been identified this afternoon.

Other bodies were believed to be in the ruins, and it was thought that twenty-five had been killed or fatally injured.

There were 700 children in the building when the fire started. Its origin is in doubt. Anger and the state police think it originated in a closet near the stairways and was caused by a hot air explosion.

Mother Superior Aldegon, who was in charge of the pupils, heard an explosion, and detecting smoke, sounded the alarm. There was no fire escape on the building, but wide stairways at either end of the interior led down to the front exit. Under fire drill discipline the little ones were marched through constantly thickening clouds of smoke to the ground floor, when the building began to burn.

LEADERS DASH FOR DOOR.
Instead of passing out the rear exit, according to rule, they made a dash for the front door and became jammed in the vestibule. Meantime the fire had eaten its way upward from directly under the front entrance and the vestibule crowded with pupils presently was enveloped in flames.

Many reached the open air and others were dropped from second and third story windows or dragged out of the building. The fire was not extinguished until 11:30. Catherine M. O'Donnell, aged 13, was among the first to escape, but when she got outside and found that her two little brothers were missing she broke away from the crowd and

NURSE WOULD STOP SALE OF ESTATE

Miss Grace L. Brown, a nurse, filed suit in the Superior Court today to prevent Mrs. Gladys Van Sander, of 2144 Telegraph avenue, from selling at auction property at East Tenth street and Fifth avenue, which the former claims was bequeathed to her by the latter's father, the late Benjamin Wright, in return for her care of him during his last illness.

A few moments after the action had been filed Judge W. S. Wells granted Mrs. Van Sander permission to dispose of the property, which is listed as belonging to the estate of Wright. The injunction proceedings will be heard next week.

John A. Beckwith is named as a defendant in the action, as, according to Miss Brown, he was given the deed to the property in question and instructed to give it to her upon the death of Wright. The complainant alleges that Mrs. Van Sander included the property in the list of properties in the estate of her father at the time of his death, and had it admitted to probate as such.

Mrs. Van Sander is prominent socially. Wright was one of the wealthiest realtors in the city at the time of his death.

RANCHER LIVES WITH SHOT IN HEART

HAYWARD, Oct. 28.—With several bullets in his heart, Fred Perry, a young rancher of Crow Canyon, who accidentally wounded himself with a shotgun this morning, is still living at the Billingsley Hospital here. While struck a shotgun lying on the wagon seat, receiving the full charge in the chest, the accident was witnessed by employees at the farm and Perry, who had fallen from the wagon to the ground, was rushed to the Billingsley Hospital.

Banker's Son Starts
Lost Will Contest

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 28.—The lost
will of the late Joshua Hill, a Michigan banker and philanthropist who died in this city a few weeks ago, developed a new mystery yesterday.
Hunt C. Hill, son and one of the six heirs of the $200,000 estate, applied in the probate court for special letters of administration that he might make a new search for the will.
Two other administrators have failed to find the will, which is in a safety deposit box somewhere in San Francisco.
The case is also in the probate court in Oakland county, Michigan. The will on file there is said to be an earlier one than the hidden will in San Francisco.

ran back into the building. The safe, but no trace of Catherine could be found after the fire had burned itself out.

CHILD TELLS OF DEATH TRAP.
Genevieve Phillips, one of those who escaped, said:
"There was no confusion and everything went smoothly until we came to a point about half way down the stairs between the first and second floors. Looking down over the heads of the children ahead we saw a terrible scene. The younger children from the first floor were piled up in front of the doorway. The sisters were doing their best to get the children through the doors.
"Many of the little ones were terror-stricken and crying at the top of their lungs. Some had fainted and were being dragged along in the crush. A few had fallen to the floor. Some of the children, most of them under 7 years, were struggling to keep their feet. The sisters were working frantically to rescue those who had fallen, but the task was a hopeless one."
EXPLOSION STARTS FIRE.
The flames, it is supposed, started in the basement, and, according to some,
were caused by the explosion of a steam boiler from which the building was heated. There is doubt, however,
as to the exact origin of the fire.
A large percentage of the pupils
were children of foreign parentage,
many of the number being of Irish and Italian descent.
The firemen fought the fire from ladders raised to the windows while the police cleared the vestibule. The bodies of the dead generally were beyond recognition. Mary Leeds and Marion Hayes were found in the crush badly burned but alive
and were removed to a hospital.
The first alarm brought a hundred distracted mothers to the school yard,
where soon they were joined by other relatives of the pupils. Until the building was surrounded by a great crowd of hysterical men and women who rushed the police lines in a wild effort to reach their children. The police were powerless to stop the rush,
but what they failed to do was accomplished presently by the flames, which, shooting from the windows of the building, held back the terrified throng.
RESCUED FROM WINDOWS.
Police and firemen bent their energies carefully to pulling children from doors and windows. The mother superior dropped twenty-five of her charges from a window on the second floor and they were caught in overcoats and blankets improvised as fire nets.
Two hours after the fire started twenty bodies had been taken from the ruins and others were being sought.
At noon only two of the bodies—
those of Lizzie Nolan, aged 17, and Mary Sullivan, 15, had been identified.
Both girls were to have been graduated this year.
The origin of the fire remained in doubt. Michael Dunn, who lives near the school, said he heard a muffled explosion in the school building just before it was enveloped in flames.
Building Inspector A. H. McDonald and W. S. Murrel of the state police made an investigation in the basement and later reported that the steam boiler which was reported to have exploded was intact.
SCHOOL MODERN STRUCTURE.
The school building was erected a

POLITICAL GUARDIES

Political experts about the bay cities
spent yesterday and today in speculating
on the effect of Tuesday's election. Most are agreed that the defeat of the non-partisan bills leaves the state with a
direct primary law that is useless alike
for partisans and non-partisans; and that
the result means either a long and expensive special session of the legislature
this winter or a return to the old party convention system.

GOVERNOR'S VIEW

Governor Johnson is said to be opposed
to calling a special session, with its heavy
expense and inevitable annoyances.
Republican leaders are already planning to hold a convention to nominate a complete ticket, state and national.
The refusal of the voters to adopt the revised primary law passed by the last Legislature at the dictation of the state
administration leaves the primary law
now on the code books unworkable.
The law rejected by the voters Tuesday repealed the old primary law and
provided a method by which voters could register their party convictions in national affairs on the ballot.
The Legislature passed a law
wiping out all party registration. This was not carried to a referendum vote.
Therefore, under the present situation,
there is no method under which party
affiliations may be expressed in registration or on the ballot in the voting booth.

YOUNG IS CHEERFUL

The only way a candidate for office
can get on a ticket is by circulating a petition and going under the designation
of "independent."
Speaker C. C. Young of the Assembly,
father of the non-partisan bills, said last
night:
"I assume that the other people have
some solution for this peculiar predicament.
I realized the situation from the first. Mr. Rainey declared he knew what he was doing in not referring the third
bill, the one affecting registration. Mr.
Shortridge in a debate said that this contingency had been provided for. I do not know what it is. I am cheerful about the result. The trouble was that the people did not go to the polls. I cannot express an opinion as to the necessity for an extra session as I have not spoken to the Governor about it."

POLITICAL GUARDIES

Political experts about the bay cities
spent yesterday and today in speculating
on the effect of Tuesday's election. Most
are agreed that the defeat of the non-
partisan bills leaves the state with a
direct primary law that is useless alike
for partisans and non-partisans; and that
the result means either a long and expensive special session of the legislature
this winter or a return to the old party
convention system.

GOVERNOR'S VIEW

Governor Johnson is said to be opposed
to calling a special session, with its heavy
expense and inevitable annoyances.
Republican leaders are already planning to hold a convention to nominate a
complete ticket, state and national.
The refusal of the voters to adopt the
revised primary law passed by the last Legislature at the dictation of the state
administration leaves the primary law
now on the code books unworkable.
The law rejected by the voters Tuesday repealed the old primary law and
provided a method by which voters could
register their party convictions in national affairs on the ballot.
The Legislature passed a law
wiping out all party registration. This was not carried to a referendum vote.
Therefore, under the present situation,
there is no method under which party
affiliations may be expressed in registration or on the ballot in the voting booth.

YOUNG IS CHEERFUL

The only way a candidate for office
can get on a ticket is by circulating a
petition and going under the designation
of "independent."
Speaker C. C. Young of the Assembly,
father of the non-partisan bills, said last
night:
"I assume that the other people have
some solution for this peculiar predicament.
I realized the situation from the first. Mr. Rainey declared he knew what
he was doing in not referring the third
bill, the one affecting registration. Mr.
Shortridge in a debate said that this
contingency had been provided for. I do not know what it is. I am cheerful
about the result. The trouble was that the people did not go to the polls. I cannot express an opinion as to the necessity for an extra session as I have not
spoken to the Governor about it."

MRS. MARY PAMIAS IS EXONERATED

Coroner's Jury Decides That Woman Slew Cripple in Defense of Life and Honor.

BULLETIN.

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 28.—Mrs. Mary Pamiias was exonerated this afternoon for the murder of Michael Weinstein by the Coroner's Jury on the grounds that she was defending her life and honor.

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 28.—All of the gruesome details of the murder of Michael Weinstein, who was slain October 13 by Mrs. Mary Pamiias, were rehearsed at the coroner's inquest called by Dr. T. B. W. Leland this morning. The accused woman, who has confessed the crime, was brought from the city prison by Mrs. Leland, the matron, and sat beside her husband, Joseph Pamiias, a porter for the United Railroads. With her hands clasped in his she remained motionless and well-nigh expressionless while the story of the crime was told until reference was made to her love for Pamiias. Then she broke down.

The story of the murder of Weinstein's body, of its concealment and the actual murder committed with an axe in her room at McCallister street, failed to move her. It was not until Detective James Cottle repeated her statement that she wanted to be with Joe, and that it was her love for Joe that prevented her from fleeing the city, that she began to weep and her head fell over on her husband's shoulder. Mrs. Pamiias was heavily veiled at the opening of the session, but was required to remove the veil in order that she might be seen and recognized by the jury.

CONFESSIONS READ.

Detective Cottle, in connection with his outline of the case, read the two confessions of the woman that had been taken down by a shorthand reporter. First she stated that she had committed the crime on Tuesday because Weinstein had advanced to attack her. In the second she admitted that it was Monday that Weinstein was slain and it was his refusal to turn over letters to her and his demand that she fly with him that caused her to commit the deed.

Detective Cottle described his visit to the McCallister street house and his finding the dismembered body in the box couch. He detailed Mrs. Pamiias' admissions regarding her purchase of a trunk in which she intended to place the corpse and the hiring of a room on Golden Gate avenue where the trunk was to be sent.

"Then my heart failed me and I couldn't go on," he read from the confession. "I intended to send the trunk to the Golden Gate avenue room, but I saw that I couldn't go ahead. I cut up the body and put it again in the box couch. Then I packed my grip and I went to the Golden Gate avenue house myself, and I then told my husband on the car. He wanted me to give myself up that night, but I said, 'Oh, Joe, let us have this one more night together.' He consented but he wouldn't fly with me. He made me give myself up to the police. Probably it is better for there would have been no use for me to run away without Joe. I would have been caught, and I might as well be here in prison as away without Joe."

NOT TO GO ON STAND.

Mrs. Pamiias' attorney, James W. Cochrane, took careful notes on the testimony. He stated that Mrs. Pamiias would not be put on the stand. "She has talked entirely too much already," said Cochrane. "I am not going to allow her to talk any more."

Other witnesses examined were additional details were W. H. Childers, proprietor of the lodging house at 543 McCallister, where the crime was committed; Mrs. Clara Lukens, who runs the Golden Gate avenue house; Detective Peter H. McCall, Autopsy Surgeon David Stafford and Patrolman Con Creagan.

U.S. SEEKS PLOT'S BACKER

Were Higher-Ups in Munitions Conspiracy

By Associated Press.

NEW YORK, Oct. 28.—Federal authorities in charge of the case of the five men accused of conspiracy to disable steamships carrying munitions of war from this country to the allies, asserted today that the government was without evidence that Robert Fay, the confessed leader of the alleged plot, was acting on any authority other than his own.

Abraham Snydacker, attorney for Walter L. Scholz, Fay's brother-in-law, impudently at New York today, issued a statement giving Scholz' account of his relations with Fay. Scholz said he worked for Fay for $25 a week, and although he carried packages, ran a motor boat and automobiles for the latter, he was ignorant of having transported explosives or engaged in a plot to place bombs on the propellers of ships laden with supplies for the allies.

NEW YORK, Oct. 28.—Efforts of federal prosecutors and secret service agents here were directed today to an investigation of the financial backing of the leaders of the conspiracy to blow up war munition plants and ships, of which Lieutenant Robert Fay of the German army is alleged to be the head.

William J. Flynn, chief of the United States Secret Service, was quoted today as saying: "I believe we are going to get the financiers of this plot. Fay said he had spent only $400. Paul Siebs says that Fay told him he had $7500 when he started for this country. We believe Fay spent $30,000."

SEEK "HIGHER-UPS."

The federal officials said that if the men who furnished money for Fay and his associates are discovered they will be called upon to face charges as serious as those against the men already named in the conspiracy.

Paul Siebs said today that he was going to appear against the alleged conspirators as a witness for the state because he had been deceived and led into a trap. Siebs, who declared that he lived in Chicago from 1910 to 1913 as a clerk and a traveling auditor, said he came to the United States after visiting Germany last year to buy copper for the use of Germany.

Captain Harold C. Woodward of the United States Corps of Engineers, an expert in high explosives, said that a bomb or mine such as Fay admitted he was preparing to attach to the rudders of ships leaving here with war supplies, would have been sufficient to blow the end off the steamers if the bombs were filled with the explosives Fay purchased.

PLOT GROWS IN EXTENT.

No fresh confessions of the German conspirator Fay are reported from certain sources to have carried the inspiration for the gigantic bomb plot directly into the German Foreign Office.

Not only steamships carrying munitions of war, but railroads transporting the same, American plants in which they are manufactured and docks from which they are transported were involved in Fay's far-reaching plans for ending the traffic in ammunition.

Not by direct order, but by subtle insinuation, he claims, was he instructed in what he was to do.

Called into an office in Germany, the precise location of which he refuses to disclose, but which he intimates was the Foreign Office in the Wilhelmstrasse, Berlin, he was told by Johannson, alleged to be the secret service chief in charge of spy matters for the German government, that there were no orders for him.

LETTER WAS PARTICULAR.

Thereupon, Fay declares, he was handed a letter written by Dr. Herbert Kienle, under indictment here for participation in the conspiracy. This letter was directed to Dr. Kienle's father, owner of one of the biggest clock manufacturing plants in the world. The letter contained the names of half a dozen munition plants in the United States, two railroads which are engaged in transporting the munitions to tidewater, newspaper clipping machines and docks from which they are transported in carrying the munitions and the location of the docks in New York from which the ships would sail.

Among the munition plants named were the Alcoa-Chalmers plant and Brown-Sharpe Machine Tool Company of Providence, R. I., the New York Central and the Pennsylvania railroads were named as transportation companies.

NO "INSTRUCTIONS."

According to the story Lieutenant Fay told Johannson, the secret service chief, said to him:

"We have no instructions for you. You will please read this letter carefully. Memorize those portions which appear directly and then return the letter to me."

Fay did as he was directed. Thereupon he was handed $4000, following which he departed for the United States. This narrative of the events leading up to his arrival here, it was learned today, is embodied in a statement which Fay made to William J. Flynn, chief of the United States secret service, during the two hours that he was subjected to the third degree in Chief Flynn's office yesterday afternoon. How much more he disclosed could not be learned today. That United States Government officials have turned their attention to this international phase of the situation, however, is learned on indisputable authority.

STILL NO ORDERS.

Johannson, it is claimed by Fay, repeated, after the letter had been returned to him, that there were no specific instructions for him. He was advised, however, to see the German officials in New York on his arrival here.

Under these conditions he sailed for New York. Arriving here he saw Captain von Papen and Captain Boy-Ed, as he has previously told.

"Captain von Papen told me," according to the story told by Fay, "that I might do to sink a few ships, but that might lead to political entanglements."

At this point, according to the informant, Fay's revelations broke off. The specific instructions which were not given to Fay, it was said today, were undoubtedly conveyed in similar guarded fashion to others here in New York, and it is to be learned that the secret service is devoting its efforts now in connection with the search for those who financed the conspirators.

On top of these astounding revelations, Federal District Attorney Marshall, following a conference with Chief Flynn, said:

"I have little doubt that there are men higher up in this conspiracy. We have every hope that they will be rounded up and arrested before our investigation is at an end."

The District Attorney announced an intention of putting all the evidence he has in hand against the five defendants before the Grand Jury, which will meet early in November.

value about $14,000 during the time it is being used by Cotton, but in return for this the city will have dredging work done in the Key Route basin which would cost $50,000 to $60,000.

"You understand that you are actually losing $14,000 under this contract," said Miller. "I want the council to understand that."

"Nothing of the kind," declared Mayor Davis. "We are getting dredging worth $60,000 or more, and paying only $14,000 in the depreciation of the dredger. That's a saving of $35,000 or $40,000."

"The dredger is now lying idle," said Edwards. "Mr. Anderson, if the dredger is in use, how much greater will the depreciation amount than when it is idle?"

Miller started to make an explanation, but was cut short by Mayor Davis.

"We're not talking to you, Miller," said the mayor. "We are listening to Mr. Anderson."

AWAKING JACKSON.

Commissioner Jackson asked that action on the resolution be deferred till Commissioner Jackson's return. Jackson has been ill and will be back Monday. The entire investigation of the West Oakland marsh condition was in his department, and was transferred to Anderson after Jackson had made a tentative report. The transfer was made during Jackson's absence.

Bacon was unsuccessful in his effort to have the matter put over till Monday. Mayor Davis declaring that the state board of health has notified him that the City of Oakland must take some action to abate this nuisance by November 6.

It is possible that Commissioner Jackson may demand that the resolution be reconsidered Monday, as Section 47 provides that no action can be taken unless it has been made the special order of the day.

City Auditor L. H. Clay filed his rejection of two claims, one from City Health Officer Higgins, and another from City Bacteriologist Parley P. Musser for $7 and $3 respectively for dressing injuries incurred by two city employees. Clay took the ground that he would violate the charter if he audited these claims, and presented the following letter of explanation:

"I herewith return to you, rejected, two claims drawn in favor of Dr. R. M. Higgins and Dr. Parley P. Musser, for $7 and $3, respectively, covering professional services rendered by Dr. R. M. Higgins, head janitor and assistant engineer at the Municipal Auditorium, for injuries sustained while on duty at the Auditorium."

PAY NOT JUSTIFIED.

"As Dr. Higgins and Dr. Musser are employees of the city government, receiving a monthly compensation, they are not entitled to any further compensation, which would be a violation of City Charter Sections 26 and 28, and I therefore reject these claims."

City Auditor Clay also rejected claims in favor of the Leona Quarries, Inc., for $268.55, $203.71, and $127.34, for rock purchased in the open market without the proper authorization.

Old Families Tangled in Big Land Lawsuit

Members of some of the oldest and best known families in the county are involved in a legal dispute over 1000 acres of land in Murray township which was opened up in the Superior Court this morning through the filing of a suit by Mrs. Ellen Murphy, of Livermore, against the California Pacific Title Company, the Biss Estate company and Mrs. Ellen W. Biss. Mrs. Murphy seeks an order restraining the defendants from disposing of land, the ownership of which is disputed. Two trust deeds and two promissory notes in the legal tangle. The first trust deed was given by Luis Anrecoche, a member of one of the oldest Spanish families in the state, to secure a $35,000 promissory note. Mrs. Murphy later purchased the property from Anrecoche, assuming the indebtedness.

She contends that a second deed of trust was later given to secure another promissory note, and that this trust deed was supposed to cancel the first. She says that she assumed the first deed had been automatically cancelled through the recording of the second, and she took no formal action to have this done. It is because of this, she now contends, that others claim ownership of the property, and intend to sell it.

She says that if she be enjoined from disposing of the land until the title has been cleared.

Autoist Kills Cyclist on Boulevard; Flees

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 28.—A head-on collision between a motorcycle and an automobile at the south turn on the Coast Boulevard early today resulted in the death of one man and the serious injury of another. Philip Boyle, of 401 Fourth street, received injuries which caused his death later at the Central Emergency Hospital and James O'Donnell, of 461 Fourth street, was treated for a lacerated scalp and injuries to both legs. He will recover.

Boyle and O'Donnell were riding down the highway on their motorcycle. As they took the curve into Coast Boulevard they ran directly into a small machine, smashing the radiator and demolishing the motorcycle. Boyle was declared unconscious and O'Donnell was too badly hurt to aid him. Several pedestrians who witnessed the accident, called an ambulance and rushed both men to the hospital. The driver of the machine disappeared after the accident. The license number was 1260, which is registered under the name of F. Rosa.

Clerk's Mistake Makes Jury Indictments Void

SUPERVISORS AID SITE INITIATION

Circulate Petition to Place the Proposed Courthouse Purchase Before People.

Members of the Board of Supervisors will appear in the novel role of circulators of initiative and referendum petitions. This was learned this morning when at the Board of Supervisors meeting, the Board of Supervisors met to place the proposed courthouse purchase before the people, and the initiative setting forth that the county courthouse lands may never be bought save by vote of the people, and announced that they would circulate these among members of commerce and other organizations in the district.

The petitions made their appearance today in the hands of representatives of the Downtown Association. Several signatures were taken in the supervisors' rooms.

Official representation from the Board of Supervisors will journey to San Diego on November 6, when an official Alameda County Day, in celebration of the awarding of fifteen gold medals and a large number of other prizes, will be held at the Panama-California Exposition. The affair will be replete with special features, according to the report made this morning at the committee session of the supervisors when the plans for the day were considered.

Application to the board to assist in the circulation of the initiative petition, of Dr. Werner Liegenmann on Berkeley and Oakland, was made by H. A. Laffier of Oakland and R. J. Blith of Berkeley. On the ground that the county at the present time has no money for the work, the matter was laid over, the proponents of the plan being asked to apply again after the first of next year.

"I have no doubt it is a good thing, although, as it is a city proposition, the cities should support the project and not ask the county to help," said Chairman Murphy. "Still, if there is money for it next year, I will be willing to open the matter for discussion." Supervisors Foss and Kelley favored the plan.

County Clerk George reported on his plan for extra clerks to check the Kelley recall petitions, stating that he would find these men necessary if more names came in. The matter was laid over.

"High Brow" Not Wife, His Need So Alleges Woman in Divorce Plea

Mrs. L. B. Laddie thinks that her husband exceeded the limits of propriety when he told her that he did not want a wife but an intelligent woman, she filed a complaint in divorce against Pomeroy Laddie in the Superior Court today. She names this as one of several crimes which she alleges against her husband, who was formerly purchasing agent for the San Francisco-Oakland Terminal Railway.

Mrs. Laddie says that her husband for a period of several months last year refused to provide her with a dining table, forcing her to serve meals on a packing case. They were married in Stuttgart, Germany, in 1904, and live at 575 Fifty-fifth street. Mrs. Laddie asks to be awarded the custody of their two children.

Clemence Staudenmeyer of Alameda filed suit for divorce against Ben Staudenmeyer today, admitting that she separated from him but yesterday. She says that he swore at her, accused her of having with other men and struck her. She wants the custody of their 10-year-old daughter.

Lena James alleges that Michael James threw dishes at her while he cursed her, in a divorce complaint filed today.

JERSEY CENTRAL HIT BY DECISION

Railroad Ordered by Court to Divorce Lehigh & Wilkes-Barre Coal Co.

By Associated Press.
PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 23.—The United States district court today decreed that the ownership of the Lehigh and Wilkes-Barre Coal Company by the Central Railroad Company of New Jersey is a conspiracy in restraint of trade and that the Central company must dispose of its interest in that concern.

The decree filed today is on the decision of the court last June in the Government's suit against the Reading Company, Jersey Central and others. The court at that time suggested that the Lehigh and Wilkes-Barre company be divested from the Jersey Central.

RESTRAINT OF TRADE.
As the subject of this separation was argued when the case was heard, the court in its decision last June suggested it for consideration of counsel when the scope of the decree came to be determined. There was difference of opinion as to what the form of the decree should be, and the court today finally decided that the union of the Philadelphia and Reading Coal and Iron Co. and the Lehigh and Wilkes-Barre Coal Company, through the instrumentality of the Reading Company is a combination in restraint of trade and violates the anti-trust act of 1890. The Reading Company, a holding corporation, owns all the stock of the Coal and Iron Company, and a majority of the stock of the Jersey Central, the last named in turn owning a majority of the stock of the Lehigh and Wilkes-Barre Coal Company.

The court decreed that after 90 days from the date the defendants must submit a plan for the disposal of the Jersey Central of all the stock and other securities of the Lehigh and Wilkes-Barre Company now owned by it, until an appeal is taken to the United States Supreme Court. If the defendants fail to present a plan, the court will take such further steps by restraining or otherwise as may then seem necessary.

ENJOINED FROM VOTING.
Pending the disposal of the Lehigh and Wilkes-Barre Company's stock, the Jersey Central, the Reading Company and all other corporations controlling any stock are enjoined from voting it.

All claims for compensation in leases of coal lands owned by the Reading Coal and Iron Company and the Wilkes-Barre Company or by any company subsidiary to them that require the lessee to ship coal over any particular railroad or route as may be designated by the railroad are declared to be in violation of the anti-trust law.

RECIPE TO STOP DANDRUFF

This Home Made Mixture Stops Dandruff and Falling Hair and Aids Its Growth.

To a half pint of water add:
Bay Rum.....1 oz.
Barbo Compound.....a small box
Glycerine.....1/4 oz.

These are all simple ingredients that you can buy from any druggist at very little cost, and mix them yourself. Apply to the scalp once a day for two weeks, then once every other week until all the mixture is used. A half pint should be enough to rid the head of dandruff and kill the dandruff germs. It stops the hair from falling out, and relieves itching and scalp diseases.

Although it is not dye, it acts upon the hair roots and darkens streaked, faded, gray hair in ten or fifteen days. It promotes the growth of the hair and makes harsh hair soft and glossy.—Advertisement.

How Thin People Can Put On Flesh

Thin men and women—that big, hearty, filling dinner you ate last night. What a meal it contained? You haven't gained in weight one ounce. That food passed through your body and was burned up through an open grate. The matter was there, but your food doesn't work and stick, and the plain truth is you hardly get enough nourishment from your meals to pay for the cost of cooking. This is true of thin folks the world over. Your nutritive organs, your functions of assimilation, are probably sadly out of gear and need reconstruction.

Cut out the foolish foods and fussy savoury diets. Cut out everything but the meats you are eating and eat with every one of those single Sargol tablets. In two weeks note the difference. Let the scales be the judge. Five to eight good solid pounds of healthy, "meaty" fat may be the net result. Sargol aims to charge weak, stagnant blood with millions of fresh new red blood corpuscles—to give the blood the carrying power to deliver every ounce of fat-making material in your food to every part of your body. Sargol, too, makes with your food, to prepare it for the blood in an easily assimilated form. Thin people tell how they have gained all the way from 10 to 25 pounds a month while taking Sargol and that the new fat is not sticky and Sargol tablets are a careful combination of six of the best assimilable elements known to chemistry. They come 40 tablets to a package, are pleasant, harmless and inexpensive, and speedily bring a guarantee of weight increase or money back as found in every large package. Advertisement.

TO DARKEN HAIR
APPLY SAGE TEA
Look Young! Bring Back Its Natural Color, Gloss and Thickness.

Common garden sage brewed into a heavy tea with sulphur and alcohol added will turn gray, streaked and faded hair beautifully dark and luxuriant, remove every bit of dandruff, stop scalp itching and falling hair. Just a few applications will prove a revelation if your hair is fading, gray or dry, scraggly and thin. Mixing the Sage Tea and Sulphur recipe at home, though, is troublesome. An easier way is to get the ready-to-use tonic, costing about 50 cents a large bottle at drug stores, known as "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound," thus avoiding a lot of fuss.

While wispy, gray, faded hair is not sinful, we all desire to retain our youthful appearance and attractiveness. By darkening your hair with Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur, no one can tell, because it does so naturally, so evenly. You just dampen a sponge or soft brush with it and draw this through your hair, taking one small strand at a time; by morning all gray hairs have disappeared, and, after another application or two, your hair becomes beautifully dark, glossy, soft and luxuriant.—Advertisement.

TIDELANDS TITLES CLEARED BY COURT

Supreme Bench Upholds the Bordwell Decision; Alameda Co. Affected.

Clouds to the title of water front and tideland properties in Alameda county, stretching along the bay shore from Oakland to Richmond, were removed today through the rendition of a decision of the State Supreme Court upholding the decision of the Superior Court in the Bordwell case. The decision was rendered in 1910 that the lands belonged to the state, to be held in trust for the people.

Among the local property owners affected are W. G. Henshaw, the Oakland Terminal Company, the Judson Iron Works, the John N. Co. Company in Richmond, and the Berkeley Waterfront Company. Judge Bordwell's decision was reversed in the case of San Pedro against the Southern Pacific Company, in which he held that the railroad corporation had no rights to tidelands in Los Angeles county.

The Supreme Court decision, which upholds the Bordwell decree, was rendered in the case of Christ Knudson against State of Alameda, or San Francisco. Knudson sued Mrs. Kearney to quiet title to two acres of tidelands
on the southern shore of San Francisco bay. It was found that Mrs. Kearney held possession under a lease held by Lucene von Leitch, who had obtained title
by grant from the State of California,
made in 1913 by the board of tideland commissioners. Judgment was given for Mrs. Kearney, and Knudson appealed the decision of the lower court, and, instead, ruled that Judge Bordwell's decision in the larger case was correct.

The Supreme Court decision was written by Justice Shaw, and concurred in
by Chief Justice Angelotti and Justices Sloss and Lawlor.

MOOSE DAZZLE IN BIG CELEBRATION

Impressive Drill Participated in by Uniform Bodies From Eleven Lodges.

With a dazzling regimental parade, the Oakland Lodge of Moose greeted spectators from various parts of the state and country who had gathered to take in celebrating the 50th anniversary of the organization's foundation. The drill, which was the feature of the celebration, was participated in by the uniform bodies from eleven lodges of the state, together with the California Grays and company of the 7th
Infantry, National Guard of California.
Colonel L. A. East, commander of the division of the military maneuvers.

Visiting notables, city officials and members of other lodges of the state filled the boxes surrounding the arena, where the drill had been cleared for the drill team, drum corps and band of the Oakland Lodge swung into glittering lines preceding the Moose Defenders under the lead of Captain E. Simpson.
Captain C. A. Sullivan headed the drill team of "White," C. D. Smith the captain of "Oakland," and the Oakland drum corps headed by Davis the Oakland drum corps.
After a brief address on "Fraternalism," the crowd poured down from the boxes and galleries and one of the most successful balls ever given by the lodge was in full swing, to the strains of a brilliant orchestra. The sprinkling uniforms made the dance vividly colorful.

WOMEN SUE RAILROADS; ASK $60,000 DAMAGES

Two women filed suits against three railway corporations in the superior court today, asking damages aggregating more than $60,000. Miss May
L. Farrell wants $50,000 for injuries received on July 26 when a street car of the San Pablo avenue line collided with a freight train of the Santa Fe railroad at Forty-first street. Her suit is directed against the Santa Fe Company and the San Francisco-Oakland Terminal Railroad.

The second suit is filed by Miss Jeanne H. Dungan and is against the Southern Pacific Company. She wants $10,115 for injuries received when an automobile in which she was riding was run down by an electric trolley of the Eighteenth street line at Adelphi street last November. Malcolm Mc-Gown, who was motorman of the train, is named as co-defendant in the suit.

SON CONTESTS WILL OF LATE GIACOMO BRUNO

Joseph Bruno today filed a contest of will of his late father, Giacomo
Bruno, alleging that his two sisters,
Catherine Bruno and Mrs. Mary Scott, and a brother, George W. Bruno, so prejudiced his mind against him that he cut him off in his will with a $5 bequest. The two sisters and the brother, he says, were left $11,000 in equal shares.

The contestant declares that his father was of unsound mind when he made out his will on September 25 last. Shortly prior to that time, he averts, his brother and his sisters automatically told him that he had been an undutiful son and was deserving of but small consideration in the will.

SUES TO DETERMINE BANKRUPT'S ASSETS

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 28.—A suit was filed by R. Cordis Jr., trustee in bankruptcy in connection with the case of A.
R. Buckman, contractor, against whom Miss Marie Estelle Brown recently obtained a judgment for $1500 for breach of promise. Buckman filed a petition in voluntary bankruptcy placing his liabilities at almost $100,000. Cordis by his action today is seeking to determine whether or not some of the assets are in the hands of other parties. The suit was brought against the Sunset Construction Company and others.

KIDNEY DISORDERS QUICKLY RELIEVE

Hundreds of people have been relieved of the agonies caused by weak, diseased
or clogged-up kidneys by using Solvax,
the new remedy that quickly restores the source of all kidney complaints.

If you suffer with pains in your back and sides or have any of the following trouble such as rheumatic pains, putty swellings under the eyes or in the feet, or aches in the joints, or a headache, or run-down, or bothered with urinary disorders, Solvax will quickly and surely relieve you of all misery.

Solvax is probably the most potent remedy yet devised for ridding the system of uric acid and driving out all the poisonous impurities which cause such troubles. It neutralizes, dissolves and makes the kidneys sift out all the uric acid and poisons left by the blood and renders the kidneys and urinary organs clean, vigorous and healthy.

Many of our druggists say that no medicine ought to be paid for unless it does the user some good. Solvax therefore sells under a positive guarantee to quickly relieve the worst cases of kidney trouble or your money refunded. Try Solvax today and if you cannot see and feel a decided change for the better, just go to the druggist from whom you bought it and tell him you want your money back and he will return it without question. This is the strongest argument that can be offered in behalf of any medicine. Solvax is sold in Oakland and vicinity by The Orl Drug Co. and other leading dealers.—Advertisement.

R. R. FORECLOSURE TESTIMONY TOLD

Jurors Hear How New Haven
Was Troubled by Heirs of M. F. Goldsmith.

By Associated Press.
NEW YORK, Oct. 28.—Testimony
disclosed today in the late General Charles R. Brayton, "the blind boss of Rhode Island," as employed by the New York, New Haven & Hartford
railroad to block the passage of legislation in the Rhode Island legislature authorizing the construction of trolley lines which would compete with the New Haven, caused a sensation at the trial of the eleven former directors of the New Haven today.

TELL OF FORECLOSURE

NEW YORK, Oct. 28.—How the
New York, New Haven and Hartford
Railroad was troubled by the heirs of M. F. Goldsmith, the man who brought suit against the New York and New England Railroad Company, and caused its foreclosure, was brought out in testimony presented at the trial of eleven former directors of the New Haven road today.
Charles S. Mellen, former president of the New Haven, continued his testimony today.

LONG TRIAL EXPECTED

The New Haven directors' trial is to break all records for trial by jury cases in America's history.
Six months is considered by the lawyers a moderate estimate of the probable duration in this federal court. How many years it may drag along before the supreme court passes on it no lawyer will dare to guess.

More than a thousand records have already been submitted in evidence,
and at least 7000 more are in sight,
says Court Clerk Westervelt. Yesterday was given over almost wholly to the reading of "exhibits."

U. S. APPEALS IN STEEL LITIGATION

Petition Filed in Federal Court in Sherman Anti-Trust Suit.

By Associated Press.
TRENTON, N. J., Oct. 28.—The government petition for an appeal to the United States Supreme court in the Sherman anti-trust suit against the United States Steel Corporation was filed today in the federal court. The appeal is taken as a matter of right and requires a hearing of the case by the highest federal court.

The appeal is from the recent decision of the district court dismissing the complaint of the government in which the steel corporation was charged with being a combination in restraint of trade and in violation of the Sherman Act, and which sought its dissolution. Accompanying the formal petition for appeal the company filed a bill of exceptions to the decision of the district court, giving ten to three distinct counts in which the court is said to have erred. It is upon the so-called errors of the district court
the government will rest its case in the Supreme Court.

The bill of exceptions charges that the court erred in failing to find that the steel corporation is a combination in restraint of trade and that most of the units of the corporation are in violation of the Sherman Act. Such violation of the law is charged through the ownership by the corporation of the stocks of the Carnegie Steel Company, the American Sheet and Tin Plate Company, American Bridge Company, Shelby Steel Tube Company, Lake Superior Consolidated Iron Mines, Pittsburg Steamship Company, Union Steel Company, Clairton Steel Company and Tennessee Coal, Iron and Railroad Company,
"whereby," in the language of this bill,
it occupies a preponderant position in the iron steel trade generally and controls the total production in the United States of Bessemer and basic pig iron.

U. S. WAITS PEACE MOVE IN GERMANY

Nature of Ambassador Ger-ard's Conference Not Known, However.

By Associated Press.
WASHINGTON, Oct. 28.—Ambassador Gerard's recent conference with Emperor William is causing much speculation in official quarters here. Secretary Lansing stated today that the American envoy had been requested to visit the Emperor and that no report of the conference had been received.

The possibility that Emperor William might have taken advantage of the opportunity to express to Ambassador Gerard Germany's views on peace was generally talked of here today, particularly as a consequence of published reports that Germany soon intended to make known the basis on which she would make peace. Reports that Prince von Buelow, former German chancellor and ambassador to Italy, was to visit King Alfonso of Spain and later the United States have attracted much attention here, because of the belief that he might be entrusted with the task of explaining Germany's viewpoint.

Fresh Air Cars for Chicago Lines, Latest

CHICAGO, Oct. 28.—Fresh air cars, windproof and unheated, are to be operated on Chicago's elevated railway system for the benefit of pas-voted. The cars, it was announced today, probably will be run on half-hour schedules. Only one coach to a train will be unheated. It will be marked "fresh air car."

ROOS BROS.' EMPLOYEES WILL BE GIVEN HOLIDAY

After taking a poll of their employees and finding that 33 per cent of them wanted to go to the San Francisco Exposition on November 2, San Francisco Day, George H. Roos, manager of the Roos Brothers stores on the east side of the bay, decided to close on next Tuesday, Mr. Roos said today.

Governor Johnson has named the day
a legal holiday, and we should all try and make it the banner day at the Fair.
(The big show is nearly over, and I believe that everyone should have the opportunity to see it while it is in its full glory.)

The schools will be closed, and that was a relief from the work we have close our stores. There are many parents of school children in our employ,
and they all welcome this opportunity to take their kiddies to the Exposition, and give them a chance to celebrate.

"We polled our employees and found that 33 per cent of them promised to go to the Fair if it was closed. This was a big factor in my decision."

Miss Margaret Allen today granted
Mrs. Minerva Rosseter a monthly fam-

Relief for Catarrh Sufferers Now FREE

You Can Now Treat This Trouble in Your Own Home and Get Relief at Once.

How the Remedy for Catarrh
Was Discovered.

By the use method the new and best corrective for effective local treatment of the body and directly to the affected membranes.

THIS terrible disease
has raged unchecked
for years simply because symptoms have been treated while the cause of the trouble has been left to circulate in the blood, and bring the disease back as fast as local treatments could relieve it.

C. E. Gauss, who experimented for years on a treatment for Catarrh, found that after perfecting a balm that relieved the nose and throat troubles quickly, he could not prevent the trouble beginning all over again.

On test cases, he could completely remove all signs of Catarrh from nose and throat, but in a few weeks they were back.

Careful experiments and investigations have shown that as the troubles were expelled from the nose and throat, the real cause of the disease was overlooked and in a short time the Catarrh would return stronger than ever. Mr. Gauss has gone way ahead of the ordinary methods of treatment and has provided a remedy that

Removes the Cause and Immediately Gives Relief to the Nose and Throat

Reese Jones, of Scranton, Penn., says that after trying many methods he had tried this new method and My nose is now entirely clear and free and I am not bothered by the disease any more. The New Combined Treatment is worth its weight in gold.

Temporary relief from catarrh may be obtained in other ways, but the New Combined Treatment must inevitably be accepted for permanent results.

Sarah J. Cape, Mount Peila, Tenn., says, "I suffered the pains and distress of catarrh for thirteen years and needed to state, truly and honestly, that by your new method I was completely cured and you cannot imagine the joy that has come over me."

Trial Treatment FREE

This new method is so important to the welfare of humanity, so vital to every person suffering from any form of catarrh, that the opportunity to receive this free trial treatment, which will be gladly extended without one cent of cost.

A large trial treatment, with complete, minute directions, will be sent free to any catarrh sufferer.

Send no money, take no risks, make no promises. Simply clip, sign and mail the coupon and the test package of the New Combined Treatment will be sent to you, together with the valuable book on Catarrh.

COMMERCIAL CLUB WILL GAIN GOAL

Managers of Campaign for 2500 Members Confident of Success.

The expansion movement now under way for the Oakland Commercial Club is already an assured success. On the basis on which we started to increase the membership 20% to 25%—we already can report 100 per cent more. We will reach that figure and undoubtedly will exceed it.

This was the statement made to the board of the directors of the organization today by Roy S. Smith and J. H. Peadar, who are managing the movement. They are thoroughly pleased with the progress made, although they started the movement only four days ago and still have nearly four weeks to run before it will end.

Three of the best known men in Oakland, A. S. Lavenon, former Governor George C. Pardee and Joseph H. King were named by the board of directors as the heads of three important committees to aid in the expansion movement. Lavenon will act as chairman of the committee to prepare for a big luncheon that is to be given on November 12 to Edward F. Trefz, field secretary of the Chamber of Commerce of the United States and one of the finest speakers in the country. This luncheon, which will be one of the big features of the movement, will be held at the Hotel Oakland, and it is believed that fully 600 Oakland business men will attend.

LUNCHEON RALLIES.
Dr. Pardee will act as chairman of a committee that will choose the speakers for a series of luncheons to be given at the hotel for the active workers in the expansion movement, who will be given a regular course in salesmanship before they start the actual work of selling memberships. These luncheons will be given almost daily during the latter part of the preliminary period.

King is chairman of the committee to Seek Tidings of American in War

W. W. Colquhoun, Who Served Britain, Believed Prisoner

By Associated Press.

NEW YORK, Oct. 28.—In the belief that W. W. Colquhoun, a graduate of Columbia University last year and son of James Colquhoun, for many years president and general superintendent of the Arizona Copper Company, has been captured by the Germans while serving with the British army in Flanders, his relatives and friends have appealed to the United States consul in Germany to try to find him if he is still alive.

Captain Colquhoun, who was visiting in England when the war began, enlisted in the Highland Light Infantry, and early in July he was wounded in the right arm. A cable message received from his father by a former classmate reads:

"Captain Colquhoun fought in the battle of Loos, 25th of September; reported missing 26th; probably prisoner of war."

Colquhoun, who was a native of Clifton, Ariz., played for three years on the Columbia soccer team and was captain of it during the last year.

select the active workers during the actual selling movement. Each chairman was authorized to name the other two members of the committee.

Although the movement is but four days old, already numerous applications have been made at the offices of the organization for a chance to be appointed as a member of the working force that will do the actual enrollment during the final whirlwind week. More than 20 members of the organization have asked that they be placed on the list and given an opportunity to show that they are willing and anxious to do all they can to further the interests of the Chamber of Commerce by securing more active members and more working capital.

U. S. PROSECUTORS COME BACK HARD

Federal "Regulars" Arouse Ire of "Specials" in San Francisco.

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 28.—The smoldering jealousy between the "regulars" in the federal service in this city and quasi-official employees of the Government known as "special prosecutors" has broken into flame. The old feud flared on new vigor by an accusation hurled by Matt L. Sullivan and Theodore J. Roche, who conducted the Diggs-Caminiti and Western Fuel cases, that high officials pretending to have an intimate knowledge of the relationships of the special prosecutors and the Attorney-General do not know what they are talking about.

In regard to remuneration for their successful prosecutions, Sullivan and Roche made the following statement:

"The Government never made any contract with us in relation to the amount of compensation to be paid for our services in the Diggs-Caminiti, Diggs-Harris and Western Fuel cases. We never had any agreement with the Government or with the Attorney-General on the subject of our compensation other than an understanding with the Attorney-General that the amount of our fee would be fixed by him upon the completion of our services, according to the usual practice prevailing in the Department of Justice. 'At the time of our employment by the Government we received no retainer or preliminary fee. Upward of nineteen months ago, on March 18, 1914, after the trial of all of these cases, we received the sum of $10,000 on account. Up to this date we have received no other sum whatever from the Government for our services. Of course, we expect further compensation for the vast amount of work performed by us in these several matters, the full amount of which is to be determined by the Attorney-General upon the completion of our services. 'We expect no more from the Government than we would expect and demand from a private client for services of similar character.'"

ding Accident on State Highway.

BELMONT, Oct. 28.—Joseph Schneck, 1229 Buchanan street, proprietor of the Essex cafe, 1100 McAllister street, was killed, and three friends, riding with him, were injured when their automobile skidded and turned over on the state highway in Belmont. The injured men are:

Moore, Joseph, Essex cafe, right arm fractured.

Burgan, Sam, Essex cafe, right arm fractured.

Lowitzky was driving at high speed when the wheels struck a grass plot and skidded. The men were hurled to the hard pavement. Schneck never regained consciousness.

ARMY OFFICERS HURT.

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 28.—Two officers of the Presidio, one woman and a civilian, were injured Tuesday morning when two automobiles in which they were riding skidded on a slippery paved road at the Presidio just above the Army Y. M. C. A. and plunged down the ravine toward the stock compound of the Exposition. One of the machines turned completely over.

THE INJURED.

Pentecost, Captain Fred W., Twelfth Infantry, back wrenched.

Elliott, Captain M. A., Eighth Infantry, left knee injured.

Verlunde, Theodore, 1956 Lombard street; bruised about the body.

Woman, compound fracture of left leg.

PINNED UNDER AUTO.

MOSS BEACH, Oct. 28.—When their automobile skidded and overturned on the new county highway near Moss Beach yesterday morning B. M. Larkin and Tony Tancetta were pinned under the machine, which caught fire. They would have been severely burned had it not been for the prompt and heroic work of their companion, W. Morgan, who was thrown clear of the machine and thus able to help his friends. All three are timely operators of San Mateo.

AUTO DRIVES OVER BANK.

CROCKETT, Oct. 28.—W. F. Crockett, Oakland salesman, was injured last night when his auto plunged down a sixty-foot embankment on the hill south of Crockett. Crockett, badly bruised and cut by broken glass, was taken from the wreck and removed to a farm house and later to his home.

CIGAR MERCHANT DIES OF GAS ASPHYXIA

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 28.—Julius Auerbach, a former cigar merchant of 3536 Clay street, was found unconscious from gas asphyxiation in his bedroom early this morning and was pronounced dead on reaching the Park Hospital. When Dr. Sydney B. Dannenbaum, the family physician, reached the hospital he gave it as his opinion that Auerbach was not dead and for an hour worked over him, together with Dr. Benveniste, making artificial respiration and making a desperate effort to bring back a spark of life. His efforts were unsuccessful and the plan had to be abandoned. Members of the family declare that Auerbach's death was due to accident, but admitted that he had been feeling dependent for some time. Gas was flowing freely from an open jet in the room. Auerbach was last seen alive at 11 o'clock last night, when he returned from downtown. He had been under the care of Dr. Dannenbaum. He was 35 years old.

Don't Forget!
Coffee contains the drug, caffeine—about 2½ grains to the cup.
Some people use coffee for years and either forget or don't know that caffeine is a cumulative poison, working away in the system, insidiously undermining and destroying health.
Some of the signs are headache, heart flutter, sleeplessness, biliousness, and various stomach, kidney and liver troubles.
Of course, if one prefers his coffee, and is willing to put up with these "comforters," why—keep right on!
But, if one values health and real comfort, and at the same time would enjoy a delicious, wholesome beverage, the thing to do is to quit coffee and use

Married on a Bet

Being the Startling Adventures of a Queer Honeymoon Costing $1000 an Hour

"I'll bet you a thousand dollars you can't get married, buy a house, furnish it sufficiently to go housekeeping in a day—or better yet, I'll pay for the whole business for any man who will do it. Now."

D. O. Tribb, bachelor and millionaire oil producer, delivered of his challenge, puffed vigorously on his cigar, satisfied he had delivered a fatal blow to the argument of his three opponents.

"It can't be done," he insisted with an air of finality. Sutton, Marburger and Hanley laughed. "You never tried it, Dave," said Sutton, putting the defiant Tribb on his massive shoulder. "Wait till you find the right woman, you'll get a home in less than a day."

"Like this—"

Tribb's ejaculation was swallowed up in a shout from Hanley, who was sitting so that he faced the door. "Bob!" he called, and when a trim, up-standing, well-dressed young man looked quickly around as he entered the door and heard his name, summoned him with a jerk of his head.

"I'll just take your bet," said Hanley, in a low expectant tone.

His companions turned quickly as the newcomer approached. Hanley arose. "Bob," he said, "this is my friend Mr. Tribb and Mr. Marburger and Mr. Sutton; gentlemen, my nephew, Mr. Corson."

"Had your supper?" asked Hanley.

Just finished," replied Corson.

"Pull up a chair," said Hanley. "Want to talk to you."

"Can't, thanks," said the young chap. "Got to go."

"Just a minute," insisted Hanley, jumping out of his seat and pulling up a rocker. "Got something big to tell you."

"Mr. Tribb here," Hanley began with a chuckle, "unlike yourself is a cynic about women and matrimony. He is willing to bet the cost that a man can't get married, buy sufficient housefurnishings, and go to housekeeping in a day. Corson, for the first time since the meeting, showed a degree of interest.

"Now I know you want to get married, Bob, don't you?"

"Well—"

"Now, what I want you to do," continued his uncle, "is to marry your fiancée, Miss Blackstone, tomorrow, and prove that what we three claim is possible by giving a dinner in honor of Tribb at your house tomorrow night. Are you on?"

"I'll take you," laughed Corson. The dream of the past two years of his life, prevented from becoming a reality by inadequate finances, was to come true.

He saw his uncle turn to Tribb. "Agreed, we'll take you, Bill," he heard him say. "Now, remember it's house and lot, complete furnishings, if he marries and gives us a dinner in his own house tomorrow night."

"That's it," said Tribb. "He can start in any time after 5 a. m. tomorrow."

"Excuse me a minute till I call on the young lady, as she has something to say, you know," said Corson, rising and going to a nearby booth.

When he stepped out he was smiling. "It's all right," he said, glowing. "At 7 o'clock tomorrow night a taxicab will call for you at the hotel to take you all to the new home of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Corson for dinner."

"I'm not a bit afraid I'll lose," said Corson, chuckling, so that his massive bulk shook, "but I stand by the agreement."

"I can't lose, that's all," laughed Corson as he swung through the door into the street.

Once out of the hotel, Corson, spirits soaring, heart fluttering, hurried up to the Blackstone home. Grace met him at the door. "Is it really true?" she asked eagerly.

"True as gospel," said Corson. He took her in his arms, kissed her and then pulled her after him into the sitting room.

At 9 o'clock Bob called for Grace in a taxi-cab, which was ordered for the day, and whisked her away to the license clerk's desk at the courthouse, and, after much blushing and stammering, they had answered all the questions, received their license and were off to win the wager.

They were soon at the home of Miss Grace's pastor and with simple solemnity the knot was tied. Bob gave the minister $10, kissed his wife fondly and started for the door. "Sorry we have to hurry so," he said, putting on his hat.

"Blessings on you," called the minister and his wife as the couple jumped into the taxi. Bob consulted a slip of paper.

Here's the Beautiful House They Bought

To Wickham Havens Incorporated," Bob called to the driver, and the car dashed forward. Then to his wife, snuggled up contentedly beside him, "Wickham Havens have all those fine properties round the head of Lake Merritt, and some up-to-the-minute houses at bed-rock prices."

Picking up a salesman at the office, the car sailed merrily out Harrison Boulevard, headed for the waters of the Lake, gay with pleasure craft, past Lakeside Park with its lawns and flowers, and drew up before the house in the picture at $90 Mandana Boulevard.

"What a beauty," cried Grace, "and the south sun!"

"The price is what Old Tribb will like," chuckled Bob. "Only $3550 for eight rooms, bath, shower and sleeping porch. It's about a $6200 house, really."

"How do they do it?" said Grace, jumping out.

"Well, lumber is way down," said Mr. Fisher, the salesman, and by building about thirty houses at once and buying everything wholesale, there are immense savings."

"Hurry, come inside," cried Grace.

"My, you don't mean to tell me that at that price you get that beautiful Southern Gum in all the main rooms."

"You sure do," said Fisher, "and hardwood floors in every room upstairs and down, and linoleum laid in the kitchen."

"I'm going exploring," Grace interrupted, "while you talk terms."

From the hallway, they could hear her voice counting off her discoveries—"A big, big living room with a love of a fireplace—oh, there's a breakfast room—and a maid's room—what a sunny kitchen!—dining-room's nice and sunny, too. What a comfortable big seat at the turn of the stairs! Closet with a window—three nice big bedrooms—yes, and a sleeping porch—and they've put a cement floor in the bathroom."

"I've decided," called Grace over the bannisters. "It's a perfect dream of a house. I want it."

"You have it," laughed Bob; "just wait till I put a number on each door and we'll be on our way. We could buy this house and 50 ft. lot for a small payment, balance just like rent, but since Tribb is bound to pay, we'll make it cash."

"What I like," said Grace, settling herself in the tonneau, is the thought of all the lovely neighbors we are going to have in these eleven other houses on Mandana Boulevard being built by Wickham Havens Inc. and just reaching completion."

"They're such delightful homes, and the prices are so attractive, they're bound to draw the nicest kind of progressive young people, who want to own their own homes and get ahead. I'm going to telephone a lot of my friends and have them call up Wickham Havens Incorporated, Oakland 1750, and make an appointment to go out to see the new houses alongside of ours."

"A good idea," said Bob, "and you'd better do it right away, for these houses at the extraordinarily low prices won't last long."

Arranging for Gas

"Oh, yes, dear, let us run into the Pacific Gas and Electric Company's office first to see about the service for our new house."

"The gas pipes are already installed," said the man at the Gas Department. "It seems the builder took care of that, so all that is necessary is to leave an order for the meter."

When he asked the name Grace almost forgot and gave him the wrong one, and he wanted to know if we were the owners of the property. We were so proud to say "yes, we are buying a home." And he wanted to know what we were going to use the gas for. Bob said he was going to buy a beautiful gas range, an automatic gas water heater, and that there was a gas heating system in the house. From what he said, we have a very modern and up-to-date home. It made us so happy. Then he introduced us to the man at the

Electric Department

"He was awfully accommodating and explained everything so nicely."

"And what do you think? The electric man asked us the same questions about our name, and if we owned our own place, and what we were going to use electricity for. I asked him, 'Why so many questions?' He said, 'We need that data to assist in making 'Pacific Service' a 'Perfect Service,' and we had to sign an application for the service. Almost signed the wrong name. Do you suppose he could tell we were just married?'"

"I told him we were going to use electricity for lighting, a vacuum cleaner and an electric iron. 'Oh! yes, dear,' said Grace, 'I do want one of those electric washing machines that we saw in the Home Electrical at the exposition.' And while we were there we ordered the lamps for the new house; the Edison Mazda Lamps. They are the best you know, or the Pacific Gas and Electric Company would not handle them. The meter will be installed as soon as the city electrician passes the final inspection of the fixtures."

Referring to The Tribune, they called up and engaged a maid and gave her instructions to go at once to 890 Mandana Boulevard, and just what to do.

Let's Not Forget the Telephone

—Said Bob

"With Bell Telephone service in our home, we are just across the street from every storekeeper in town. Just stop to think what this means in time, trouble and steps saved."

"The telephone will dispose with surprising ease of hundreds of those petty household cares of ours, lightening our responsibilities and putting a real song into the day's work."

"It would be unfair to you not to embrace advantages which lie as close at hand and so within our means."

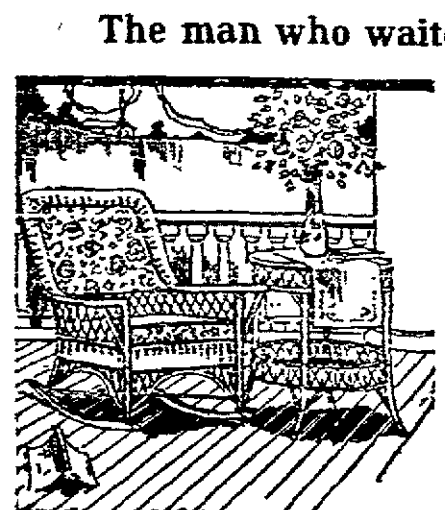

"We will just call the Pacific Telephone & Telegraph Company, Oakland 5600, today and order a Bell Telephone."

They Buy Rattan Furniture

"Now that we really have a home, Bob, let's make it just as cozy and comfortable as we can. I have always wanted to have just a lot of this Rattan or Wicker furniture about."

"That's just fine," said Bob, "and do you know, they guaranteed every piece of furniture absolutely at the Pacific Coast Rattan Co., at Sixteenth and Jefferson streets, and that means that if anything at all goes wrong with the furniture they make it right without question."

The man who waited on them took such an interest in their home and made so many good suggestions about arrangement and settings that they were through in no time, and were told that they would find everything in its proper place when they got to their new home.

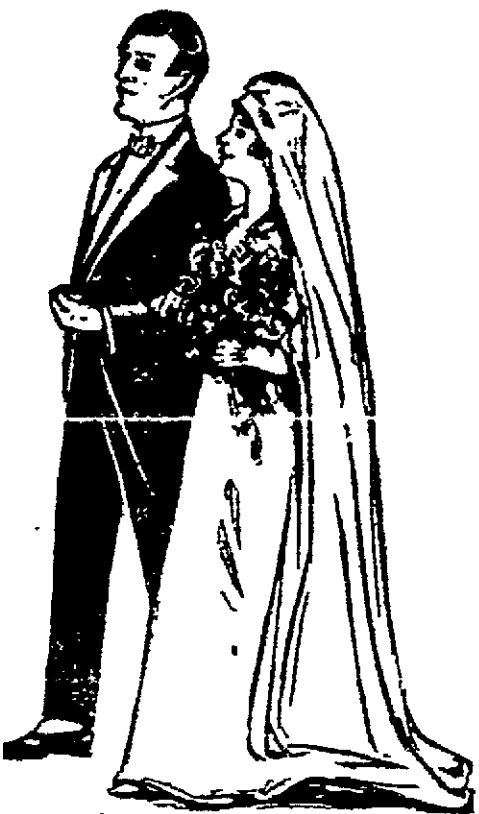

Curtains and Draperies

"Now," said Bob, "we will run over to the Curtain store at 520 Thirteenth street. They carry one of the most complete stocks of curtains, draperies and upholstery materials on the Coast, and can make them up in the most artistic designs."

"It is a real pleasure to visit a shop where everything is so exclusive."

A polite floor man met them at the door and a moment later Grace was lost in ecstasy over the beautiful fabrics displayed and with the very efficient advice and suggestions of the salesman they had soon ordered the curtains and draperies for the entire home.

"I have often heard," said Grace, "of men being curtain and drapery experts, but had no idea they were so clever in designing and harmonizing the interior of a home."

Bank Account Opened

"If we are going to start right we must open a joint bank account."

"It will certainly seem funny for me to sign your name, Bob, but I am so happy about it all," Grace cooed as they stepped up to the "New Accounts" window of the Central National Bank, at Fourteenth and Broadway.

"Over $11,000,000 in assets protect your account in this bank," said the man who made out their bank book, and the advice of our officers is always yours for the asking."

"And we must not forget to provide for the future," said Grace. "No," Bob replied, "I want to put a certain amount aside every month, and we must never touch that except in an emergency. And do you know, we get 4% compound interest on every dollar we put into this account with the Central Savings Bank."

They felt much more important as they left the bank with their two bank books.

Electric Range, Washer and Vacuum Cleaner

"Now, dear, I want to go to the Pacific Coast Specialties Store at 1700 Broadway, the place they have so many household labor saving devices," said Grace.

"Yes," said Bob, "the Apex washing machine solves the laundry question forever. It is simply wonderful how well it washes clothes and really clothes washed that way last longer than when washed by hand."

The salesman was most polite and accommodating in explaining the Frantz Premier vacuum cleaner and of course anything that lessened the work for Grace was a fine thing.

And then the Standard Electric Range, that was really great, almost intelligent in the way it cooks things without further attention than simply putting the food on and adjusting the timer and when cooked the current automatically is turned off, and they are really as economical as gas.

They Insure the Home

"I want to insure our home and furniture in the Vulcan Fire Insurance Company," said Dave, "because it is a HOME COMPANY, and its officers are men well known about the bay for their integrity and success."

This company offers protection second to none, and the offices are on the ground floor of the Federal Realty Bldg., at the junction of Telegraph avenue and Broadway.

Home for Dinner

"Now, 890 Mandana Boulevard," Bob ordered, as he consulted his watch and found that it would be but a little more than an hour until dinner would be served. Just then the car drove up in front of the house and they stepped from the taxicab.

"Now you call at the hotel promptly at 7 o'clock," Bob told the driver as he handed him a two dollar bill as extra compensation for his attention and good service.

"I will," said the driver, smiling, as he pocketed the money. Together they went through the house on a tour of inspection. They found the floors waxed; the rugs cleaned; the furniture in place and dusted; the beds made. In fact, it seemed to them that nothing had been overlooked in the preparation of the house for their arrival.

"It is perfectly wonderful," Grace exclaimed again as they completed their tour. "I would never have dreamed that it could be done."

Tribb Pays His Bet

Grace looked down and just then the sound of an automobile horn broke the stillness outside and they rushed to the window to see if it was their party arriving.

Sure enough! The car stopped in front of their house and out piled four tall figures. Bob switched on the porch light and opened the door to receive his guests.

Mr. Hanley led the way. "Are you ready?" he said anxiously.

Bob laughed. "Come right in. How do you do? Mr. Sutton, Mr. Marberger, Mr. Tribb, this is Mrs. Corson."

Mr. Tribb gazed about. "This looks very nicely," he said in a bored sort of way.

"We want you to see the whole thing now before we have our dinner," said Bob. "We will start in the kitchen."

He led the way to where Amelia, startled, looked up from her work to see four big men in evening clothes, followed by Grace, enter. Mr. Tribb's amazement increased when they passed through the dining-room.

"You will find out that getting married and furnishing a house is not such hard work, any how."

Tribb laughed and walked into the living-room.

"Let's see what you have in here," he said.

Bob pointed out all of the objects of interest and then led the way to the second floor.

At that moment the voice of Amelia came up the stairs. "Dinner is served," she said.

The four guests needed no invitation or urging and entered the dining-room. Bob sat at one side of the table and opposite him Grace, and between them, two on each side, their guests.

When Amelia retired, Mr. Hanley arose and looked at Mr. Tribb and said, "Tribb, what say you? Do you lose or win the bet?"

Tribb raised himself slowly out of his chair and said, "If Mr. Corson will tell me how much he has spent, I shall write out a check at once."

"Well, Mr. Tribb, if you are satisfied that we have won I want to tell you that we have spent for the house and furnishing, exactly seven thousand dollars." Tribb received the verdict without flinching.

"We have bought a machine ourselves which cost a thousand, so really we have spent ten thousand today, but I want to pay for the machine."

"Pay nothing!" Tribb exclaimed. "Any one who can make a bet that he can marry, buy and furnish a house in a day and give a dinner to his friends in the evening, is entitled to a check for seven thousand. I hereby write you a check for that amount." He leaned over, scribbled the check, and then tore out the slip and handed it to Bob.

"Thank you, very much."

"And now," he said, "I want to propose a toast to Mr. and Mrs. Corson: 'May they win every bet that they make, and always be as lucky as they are tonight!'"

LAWSUITS ARE MULTIPLIED AGAINST SMALL OIL MENRUIN HANGS OVER MANY OWNERSHundreds of Pioneers May Lose All They Possess; Who Profits?

The California oil situation, since the organization of the Oil Industry Association Monday, has quickly resolved itself into this status:

On one side the hundreds of small, independent oil operators who have complied with the Government requirements up to Taft's withdrawal of 1909, and since then as far as they knew how, in genuine good faith, are unanimously lining up behind the plan to consolidate their grievances for the information of Congress and demand relief from the persecution of agents of the departments of the Interior and of Justice.

On the other side the Federal Government is pursuing as speedily as possible the preparation of nearly 250 additional suits against independent operators to dispossess them of their property. About twenty suits have already been filed in the Federal courts in this state and the others are promised shortly.

"HAWKSHAW" AROUND.
Thousands of Federal "cushion" agents are working in California and ad-EIGHT MEN IN DEATH CELLS
ONLY HOPE IN CLEMENCY

SACRAMENTO, Oct. 28.—Eight men will die on California's gallows in the next five weeks—paying a life for a life. Only Governor Johnson can save them. And he is not likely to interfere, according to apparently reliable information today.

When California hangs those eight men, it will have made a record for execution within its borders.

All the eight cases are now before the advisory board of pardons, which has power to recommend that the governor intervene. But the board, it is understood, will not do this, except perhaps to the extent of asking a reprieve in some case that may require further investigation.

Two other cases are on appeal and may be added to the record before the end of the year.

Four of the prospective gallows victims are youths—Louis Bundy, Earl Loomis, Charles Oxnard and Glenn Witt. Bundy killed a messenger boy in Los Angeles, Loomis murdered a woman while attempting to rob her store in Sacramento and Witt and Oxnard killed a wealthy Los Angeles man while robbing his home. Three of the others are "Nats." Nat Weston, Thomas Miller and Sam Robertson. Weston killed another negro, Miller, a porter, murdered a cigarstore clerk in Santa Rosa and Nat Weston and Robertson killed Richard Lindsey in Colusa county when Lindsey went to the aid of his aunt, Mrs. Michael Blaines, as the negro was about to attack her.

Ferdinando Mammalito killed an Alameda county storekeeper.

Laurence Couture and Ong Sing are on appeal.

Charles Carson, the "silent convict," will not be hanged, as he is insane in the Stockton asylum.

Governor Johnson refused to let this profusion of executions continue in Thanksgiving week. He granted a week's reprieve to Weston, who would have been hanged the day after the holiday.

Gregory during the time that official was First Assistant Attorney General.

PHELAN IN CONFERENCE.
The first tangible results of the work of the new Oil Industry Association was achieved yesterday when United States Senator Phelan signified his readiness to meet a committee of the association to discuss the situation. This meeting is tentatively set for next Tuesday.

Oil men from all parts of the State, who came here to participate in the organization of their interests, agreed that unless relief is accorded by Congress at the earliest practicable date after it convenes in December, the independent producers will be ruined by the present policy in long persisted in, they say, oil production in California will pass to the hands of a few big operators, such as the Standard, Associated and Sinclair, who are operating big tracts of adjoining patented lands.

MENACE IS SERIOUS.
J. F. Carlston, the Oakland banker, said yesterday that the local oil industry is facing absolute prostitution under the present policy and activities of the Federal Government. Unless the policy is reversed for one of justice and fair reward of good faith, there is no alternative to hundreds of failures of independent producers with sharp industrial and financial depression in all oil fields.

One prominent operator, who asked that his name be withheld for personal reasons, gave the following succinct resume of the conditions:

"The present tendency of the government is to destroy the efficiency of the small operator by the policy of the larger returns from the original discoveries. In the cases of the oil companies whose titles are attacked are those who are the pioneer, and not the large companies who had the capital to buy up patented lands."

CONSERVATION FUTILE.
"By reference to these oil lands it is evident to any geologist or oil operator that no conservation of the lands will conserve the oil there for the government, as the tracts are all small and surrounded by properties which are now draining the lands; and it looks as if the government will injure these small operators without receiving any benefit for itself."

There is no question but that the attorney who has been famous for his law in the West for many years, advising these producers that they had acquired a vested interest in these lands and that their property could not be taken from them by an administrative act of the President of the United States. It does not seem fair that after five judges of the Federal courts, including the United States Supreme Court, should have agreed with Western mining lawyers that a divided Supreme Court should take away the property of the locators, not because they were trespassers on government land but because the opinions of the great lawyers and judges in the land were at variance.

ACTION INEFFECTUAL.
"There is no question but that Congress intended at the last session to rectify the mistake and injustice which was done to the holders by the Taft withdrawal. This is shown by the fact that both the Senate and the House passed measures, separately, for their relief, but which due to the press of business at the close of the session, could not be consolidated into one law."

Congress unquestionably will see the wisdom of rewarding honest purpose and restore the oil lands of California to those who had located on these lands in October, 1906.

By all means bring him in. He can go with his mother upstairs to the boys' shop. Mr. Houts will take good care of them up there.

All right m' boy. Five-thirty? Sure. I stay on the bridge until the last man has left the ship.

Hello! This Is
HOUTS & RAMAGE
---Arthur Ramage Talking

I promised to let you know when a new lot of Stein-Bloch Suits and Overcoats arrived.

Well, we have just unpacked a big Stein-Bloch shipment that made fast time across the continent.

The garments are now being pressed, but they will be on their hangers and in the showcases by the time you get down here.

You remember I was showing you a swatch—"sample" you call it—of a handsome blue worsted that you thought you would like. You'll be surprised to see how vastly improved it looks in its swaggy style lines.

And that brown tweed that your wife thought was better suited for the rather severe wear you give your clothes—we had better keep it out of her sight if you still prefer the blue.

Seems as though those Stein-Bloch people had long ago reached the point where improvement was impossible. But on my word they have outdone their best previous efforts in their present demonstration of leadership in designing and building clothes for men.

Yes—both suits are $25 each. We can show you higher priced suits, but for your particular case I think that either at $25 will find you thoroughly satisfied when you have outworn it.

Of course not—we couldn't afford to. It isn't only this sale we have in view. We're figuring on selling you clothing in 1950 without missing a season.

That's why I recommend the Stein-Bloch line so highly. It was out in front long before I was born—guess it's good for at least thirty-five years more.

Yes, there are quite a few overcoats in the shipment. Not all we've ordered, by any means, but plenty to illustrate all the new styles and fabrics.

By all means bring him in. He can go with his mother upstairs to the boys' shop. Mr. Houts will take good care of them up there.

All right m' boy. Five-thirty? Sure. I stay on the bridge until the last man has left the ship.

CALL FOR TROOPSNo More Soldiers to Be Sent to Texas Border Unless Demanded.

By Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Oct. 28.—No additional troops will be sent to the Texas border, except on recommendation of Major General Funston, who has been assured repeatedly by Secretary Garrison in the last few months that any additional troops he might need would be sent promptly.

Secretary Garrison has been directed to give every possible aid to the State of Texas in suppressing bandit raids. As yet he has made no request of additional forces. General Funston today told the situation at Brownsville and at Douglas, Ariz., where a battle between Carranza troops and Villa forces is impending. The message also gave details of the precautions taken by federal forces to guard trains which will carry Carranza reinforcements from Laredo, Tex., to Douglas, where they will cross the border to join General Calles in Agua Prieta.

PROVOST GUARD ON DUTY.

By Associated Press.

DOUGLAS, Ariz., Oct. 28.—Approximately 300 men, comprising the First Battalion of the Eleventh United States Infantry, have been designated General T. F. Davis, commanding United States troops here.

The men go on duty this morning and will be under the command of Major John E. Bennett.

The purpose of the troops is to guard the border at Agua Prieta, which might involve the United States in a fight with the Carranza forces, which are now in the main body of United States troops free to act in any other emergency which might arise.

INCITED REVOLUTION.

By Associated Press.

SAN ANGELO, Tex., Oct. 28.—Four Mexicans charged with attempting to start a revolution were brought here under arrest last night from the James Wilson farm near here. Considerable unrest has been reported lately among Mexican residents of this section of West Texas.

BANKING COMMISSION.

By Associated Press.

GALVESTON, Tex., Oct. 28.—The Carranza government has appointed a commission to study the issuance of notes and to regulate specie reserves. This commission also will have supervision of banks and other institutions and will have power to recommend liquidation or bankruptcy proceedings where necessary.

This information is contained in a cablegram received from Mexico City by the local Constitutionalists' consul today.

The message adds that General Carranza shortly will issue a decree granting amnesty to all Mexicans, regardless of political affiliation or class, except those implicated in the death of President Madero and Vice-President Suarez and certain bandit leaders.

The order permitting coastwise shipping to be conducted free of taxation has been extended until next February.

SCHOOL BANDS
FIGHT AGAIN
REVIVESEducation Board Is Urged by Boyle to Appoint Smith Officially.

The old fight that resulted when the school bands were taken out of the hands of John Smith, director and originator of the Oakland Boys' Exposition Band, was started again last night at the board of education, when School Director Harry Boyle made another attempt to have the teacher officially appointed the school staff. Superintendent Barker objected on the ground that Smith has no teacher's certificate, and also on the ground that he, the head of the department, and Smith were not in harmony. Through the majority vote of the board Boyle forced a week's delay on the matter to investigate.

The matter came up when a plan for detaching Herman Tautner, music teacher in the schools, to the Community Orchestra was recommended.

"How about Smith for this work?" asked Boyle. "I move we lay the matter over a week and see Smith."

"I am opposed to Smith on the ground that he has no teacher's certificate and on the ground that he is not in harmony with the head of his department," said Barker.

"I think the superintendent's word should be final in educational matters," said Miss Brown.

Boyle called for a vote, and was supported.

MUSICIANS STRIKE.

Smith started the Exposition band, a boys' organization, before Glenn Woods was appointed to the head of the music department in the schools. At this time the school bands were unofficial. Woods, appearing at a rehearsal of Smith's band, attempted to lead it, whereupon the youthful musicians went "on strike," refusing to play for the new official.

A lengthy letter to Mayor John L. Davis, filed some weeks ago, was brought up before the board last night by Commissioner Edwards, mayor and being an optometrist, was asked to support school plays.

This letter Edwards asked to be placed before the board.

Section 119 of the charter says that the council may give us money to adequately support the schools," said Miss Brown. "So if the school playgrounds are not supposed to be under the reaction department the council could have furnished the money for them."

"Then you differ with the city attorney in the interpretation of the charter," asked Edwards.

"I certainly do," said Miss Brown. "And as the district attorney, and not the city attorney, is our legal adviser, I move that he be asked to give us his opinion. I move that he be asked to give us his opinion. I move that he be asked to give us his opinion."

NAME CHANGE ABANDONED.

The plan to change the name of the Tompkins school to the Markham school, after its first principal, Edwin Markham, was abandoned, on a report from the superintendent, on who the school was originally named after and why. His report was as follows:

"OAKLAND, Oct. 27, 1915.—Mrs. John Burns, now residing at 2710 Durant avenue, Berkeley, visited the office of the secretary on Tuesday, October 26, and made the following statement:

"That she is one of the daughters of Edward Tompkins, a former resident of this city, who came to California in 1880. He was, from 1880, until the time of his death in 1875, a prominent attorney in San Francisco, and later state senator."

"Tompkins subscribed the money to build the first public school in the city of Oakland, Dr. Merritt giving the lumber."

In 1870, when Tompkins was in the state legislature, Governor Booth vetoed the appropriation for the University of California, and the bill was passed over his veto through the efforts of Tompkins.

Headless Body
of Woman FoundVictim Former Mayor of Pittsburg's DaughterBy Associated Press.
PITTSBURG, Oct. 28.—The headless body of Miss Sophia McCallin, daughter of the late William C. McCallin, former mayor of Pittsburg, was found late last night on the Pennsylvania railroad tracks at Rouse, a passenger station within the city limits.

Identification was established by a diamond pin bearing her name. The circumstances leading to her death are unknown.

JUDGE REFUSES TO SET
CONTEMPT FINE ASIDE

Judge Aaron Turner made a futile attempt to save J. E. Pemberton, the attorney who assaulted him in Judge Wells' court last Monday, he $50 fine which was assessed by the jurist, yesterday. Turner interceded for Pemberton, assuring that the $50 fine, which had been imposed for contempt of court, be set aside.

"The insult was as much to the court as it was to you, and the fine will stand," said Judge Wells.

Pemberton slapped Turner in the face Monday while court was in session. The two men quarreled over a legal matter.

LOSES SUIT TO BREAK
WILL OF M. MELANDRES

Miss Millie Melandres lost her suit in Judge Wells' department of the superior court today. She sued to break the will of the late Marcus Melandres, an Alameda candy dealer, who left a $10,000 estate. She claimed to be a daughter of the decedent, but testimony was given that Melandres never acknowledged the girl as his child and had specifically provided in his will that she should not inherit any of his estate.

It was he who bequeathed $30,000 for the Agassiz chair of natural history in the University of California.

HAD LARGE HOLDINGS.

"The family formerly resided on a twenty-acre ranch which extended from Fourteenth street north to the line of Sacred Heart convent, and from Webster street east to Alameda on the northern end to a line of stakes near the middle of Lake Merritt."

"Juliet Wilbur Tompkins (Mrs. Potl), the author, is a daughter of Tompkins. Mrs. Burns, who is now a resident of New York state, made the trip to California to place her son in the University of California here because of her attachment for the institution which her father had named so prominently connected."

The contract for the roofing of the Chabot Observatory was awarded to the Tager Sheet Metal Company at a cost of $940. Claims aggregating $13,807.61 were apportioned against various funds as follows:

Oakland general fund $4,501.05
Oakland high school fund 1,211.60
Oakland kindergarten fund 85.15
Library fund 67.35
Tompkins special fund 62.53
Clawson school construction fund 7,527.53

MOTHER SAVES CHILD FROM SUICIDEWoman Suffering Hallucinations Tries to Kill Self. Parent Prevents Act.

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 28.—In the midst of a nightmare in which the sufferer whom she shot and seriously wounded three months ago was pursuing her, Miss Mary Wagner of 150 Fourteenth street attempted to commit suicide by throwing herself from the window shortly before 3 o'clock this morning. Her mother, Mrs. Emma Wagner, rescued her in the nick of time, pulling her from the casement with almost superhuman strength and wrenching her arm from its socket in the process.

Miss Wagner has been suffering from mental delusions almost since her release from the city prison after Otto Schmalzing, grocer of 701 Fourteenth street, whom she shot on the steps of her home, declined to prosecute her following his recovery.

The girl has suffered from remorse from her act, and her health has been broken down by the mental strain undergone during the period following the shooting. This morning Mrs. Wagner heard peculiar sounds in her daughter's bedroom and hurried in time to see her daughter climbing through the window. She screamed, seized the girl and dragged her back through the window, wrenching her arm in the process.

She was taken to the central emergency hospital and her daughter to the detention hospital. Schmalzing was very much in love with the Wagner girl, formerly employed by him, and when he attempted to greet her on the stairway of her home he was shot down by the young woman and was in a precarious condition for a short time from his wounds.

Japanese Fireman
Scalded to Death

Kaminzo Nakanishi, a Japanese fireman and gardener employed by Donato Bros., at the Japanese nursery, 1000 Broadway, was found dead in the boiler room of the nursery this morning, where he had been scalded to death by the escape of boiling water and steam. It is thought that something was wrong with the machinery and that in attempting to make repairs, Nakanishi opened the pipes and flooded the place with boiling water and steam.

Nakanishi was 52 years of age, and a native of Japan. He is survived by a widow.

HIPODROME

Variety is the keynote of the new show offered at the Hippodrome yesterday. It is made up of six brand new vaudeville surprises, and one of the most powerful photo dramas ever shown. "The Money Master," in which Frank Sheridan is the featured player.
It would be hardly fair to single out any act on the bill for headline honors. Emily Greene and Company in the screaming comedy playlet, "A Swedish Firtatio," which abounds in unusual laugh producing situations. El Greco, a really wonderful performer on the xylophone; the Morton-Jewell Trio, a strong combination, who harmonize beautifully in their singing and who interpret their routine with novelty dancing and juggling; the Five Greens in a merry musical melange; Carlotta Stockill, a young woman who sings and dances; and Mary and Valerio, an unusual talented song and dance duo, are six acts fully up to Hippodrome standard, and each one of them made a decided hit yesterday.
No finer feature film has ever been produced than "The Money Master." It is a story of New York's East Side, and of the life of a young man who rises from poverty to wealth. Each of the five acts is filled with action and are gripping in interest.
The Hippodrome will give this bill until Saturday evening. Jack Wise and his girls head the new show coming on Sunday.
